Turn Undead (Action—Channel Divinity). Each undead that can see or hear you within 30 feet of you must make a Wisdom saving throw. If the creature fails its saving throw, it is turned for 1 minute or until it takes any damage. A turned creature must spend its turns trying to move as far away from you as it can, and it can't willingly move to a space within 30 feet of you. It also can't take reactions. For its action, it can use only the Dash action or try to escape from an effect that prevents it from moving. If there's nowhere to move, the creature can use the Dodge action.

As an acolyte, you command the respect of those who share your faith, and you can perform the religious ceremonies of your deity. You and your adventuring companions can expect to receive free healing and care at a temple, shrine, or other established presence of your faith, though you must provide any material components needed for spells. Those who share your religion will support you (but only you) at a modest lifestyle. You might also have ties to a specific temple dedicated to your chosen deity or pantheon, and you have a residence there. This could be the temple where you used to serve, if you remain on good terms with it, or a temple where you have found a new home. While near your temple, you can call upon the priests for assistance, provided the assistance you ask for is not hazardous and you remain in good standing with your temple.

Mark of the Silent Rebirth (Scarified). Legends whisper of the last High Priest of Vidar, whose flesh was carved in the shape of the god's own True Name at the moment Vidar fell silent. The rite did not restore the god, but it anchored the priest's soul in the twilight between life and death — neither wholly living, nor truly gone. To bear this carving is to let the final breath of Vidar bind your body, defy decay, and channel the black flame of unmaking. To wear the Mark is to hear the echo of a god's last breath. Vidar's silence lingers in the carving's cold touch—a reminder that even deities may fade, but their will lingers like a knife between the ribs. The black flame it wields is not yours to command; you are merely the hand that holds it, the voice that whispers its name. And when the fire flickers, you'll wonder: does it answer your prayers... or is it the other way around?

Eldritch Carving Effects (Drawn). While attuned to this carving in any form, you gain advantage on death saving throws and also you gain advantage against undead creatures.

Eldritch Carving Effects (Tattooed). Vidar's sigil shields your form at the brink of death. While you are below half your hit point maximum, you gain resistance to necrotic damage and your weapon attacks deal an additional 1d6 radiant or necrotic damage (your choice each attack). Additionally, whenever you restore hit points to a creature that is at 0 HP, they also gain temporary hit points equal to your Wisdom modifier + your Cleric level.

Eldritch Carving Effects (Scarified). When inscribed via the scarification ritual, the Mark of the Silent Rebirth awakens Vidar's blessing and curse fully and enables you to use Death's Rebirth feature.

Death's Rebirth. When you are reduced to 0 hit points but not killed outright, the carving flares with black fire. You immediately regain hit points equal to half your maximum HP and gain temporary hit points equal to your Wisdom score. For 1 minute:

- You are under the effect of Death Ward spell.
- You gain resistance to all damage except force damage.
- Your melee weapon attacks deal an additional 2d6 necrotic or radiant damage (your choice when you activate this feature).
- When the minute ends, you drop to 0 hit points and start making death saving throws as normal with advantage. You cannot benefit from this feature again until you finish a long rest.

Sundering Cinder Ring. Those who wait to be freed do not deserve freedom. This dark metallic ring has small veins of lava pulsing in a broken rhythm, forged from the ancient echo of destruction that still beats within ancestors heart. While attuned to this item, you can use its Unbounded Flames feature once per long rest.

Unbounded Flames: When you activate this feature, the unbounded eternal core flames coming from the Hearth-Forge starts to cleanse you and envelops your whole body. For 1 minute, you cleansed from all negative effects that effects you and you become immune to all negative effects. This effects could includes; curses, diseases, corruptions, madness etc. Also in this state, you become immune to fire damage and gain +1 to all of you physical attacks, magical attacks and Save DC's. Your negative effects does not vanishes and after 1 minute, you turn back to your previous state.

Plate +1. You have a bonus to AC while wearing this armor. The bonus is determined by its rarity.

Valkørr's Oath. This weapon bears the final echo of a tyrant's restraint — wield it wisely, lest the land break under your hand. This massive hammer crackles with residual heat and pressure. Forged from obsidian and rune-bound steel, its head glows faintly with dormant volcanic rune sigils. When you attuned to this weapon, you considered as proficient on Mauls. Additionally your Strength score is 19 while you wear these gauntlets. They have no effect on you if your Strength is already 19 or higher without them. You gain a +2 bonus to attack and damage rolls made with this magic weapon. This bonus does not consist on magical attacks. Also you can use this weapon as an arcane focus.

Sigil Warrior: Whenever you hit a creature with this weapon, you can choose to erupt a rune. This maul has 5 rune sigils. When you erupt a rune, choose a target. The target must succeed on a DC 14 Constitution saving throw or take an additional 1d6 fire damage and be pushed 5 feet away from you.

Valkørr's Fury: Once per long rest, as an action, you can slam the hammer into the ground, causing a volcanic tremor. All creatures within 40 ft long 20 ft wide line must make a DC 15 Dexterity saving throw or take 3d6 fire and 3d6 bludgeoning damage.

You create a wall of fire on a solid surface within range. You can make the wall up to 60 feet long, 20 feet high, and 1 foot thick, or a ringed wall up to 20 feet in diameter, 20 feet high, and 1 foot thick. The wall is opaque and lasts for the duration.

When the wall appears, each creature within its area must make a Dexterity saving throw. On a failed save, a creature takes 5d8 fire damage, or half as much damage on a successful save.

One side of the wall, selected by you when you cast this spell, deals 5d8 fire damage to each creature that ends its turn within 10 feet of that side or inside the wall. A creature takes the same damage when it enters the wall for the first time on a turn or ends its turn there. The other side of the wall deals no damage.

At Higher Levels. When you cast this spell using a spell slot of 5th level or higher, the damage increases by 1d8 for each slot level above 4th.

Animate Objects

5th-level transmutation

CASTING TIME	1 action
RANGE	120 feet
DURATION	Concentration, up to 1 minute
COMPONENTS	V, S

Objects come to life at your command. Choose up to ten nonmagical objects within range that are not being worn or carried. Medium targets count as two objects. Large targets count as four objects. Huge targets count as eight objects. You can't animate any object larger than Huge. Each target animates and becomes a creature under your control until the spell ends or until reduced to 0 hit points.

As a bonus action, you can mentally command any creature you made with this spell if the creature is within 500 feet of you (if you control multiple creatures, you can command any or all of them at the same time, issuing the same command to each one). You decide what action the creature will take and where it will move during its next turn, or you can issue a general command, such as to guard a particular chamber or corridor. If you issue no commands, the creature only defends itself against hostile creatures. Once given an order, the creature continues to follow it until its task is complete.

ANIMATED OBJECT STATISTICS
Size	HP	AC	Attack	Str	Dex
Tiny	20	18	+8 to hit, 1d4 + 4 damage	4	18
Small	25	16	+6 to hit, 1d8 + 2 damage	6	14
Medium	40	13	+5 to hit, 2d6 + 1 damage	10	12
Large	50	10	+6 to hit, 2d10 + 2 damage	14	10
Huge	80	10	+8 to hit, 2d12 + 4 damage	18	6

An animated object is a construct with AC, hit points, attacks, Strength, and Dexterity determine by its size. Its Constitution is 10 and its Intelligence and Wisdom are 3, and its Charisma is 1. Its speed is 30 feet; if the objects lack legs or other appendages it can use for locomotion, it instead has a flying speed of 30 feet and can hover. If the object is securely attached to a surface or larger object, such as a chain bolted to a wall, its speed is 0. It has blindsight with a radius of 30 feet and is blind beyond that distance. When the animated object drops to 0 hit points, it reverts to its original object form, and any remaining damage carries over to its original object form.

If you command an object to attack, it can make a single melee attack against a creature within 5 feet of it. It makes a slam attack with an attack bonus and bludgeoning damage determine by its size. The DM might rule that a specific object inflicts slashing or piercing damage based on its form.

At Higher Levels. If you cast this spell using a spell slot of 6th or higher, you can animate two additional objects for each slot level above 5th.

Creation

5th-level illusion

CASTING TIME	1 minute
RANGE	30 feet
DURATION	Special
COMPONENTS	V, S, M (a tiny piece of matter of the same type of the item you plan to create)

You pull wisps of shadow material from the Shadowfell to create a nonliving object of vegetable matter within range: soft goods, rope, wood, or something similar. You can also use this spell to create mineral objects such as stone, crystal, or metal. The object created must be no larger than a 5-foot cube, and the object must be of a form and material that you have seen before.

The duration depends on the object's material. If the object is composed of multiple materials, use the shortest duration.

Material Duration

Vegetable matter	1 day
Stone or crystal	12 hours
Precious metals	1 hour
Gems	10 minutes
Adamantine or mithral	1 minute

Using any material created by this spell as another spell's material component causes that spell to fail.

At Higher Levels. When you cast this spell using a spell slot of 6th level or higher, the cube increases by 5 feet for each slot level above 5th.

Player's Handbook

Hallow

5th-level evocation

CASTING TIME	24 hours
RANGE	Touch
DURATION	Until dispelled
COMPONENTS	V, S, M (herbs, oils, and incense worth at least 1,000 gp, which the spell consumes)

You touch a point and infuse an area around it with holy (or unholy) power. The area can have a radius up to 60 feet, and the spell fails if the radius includes an area already under the effect of a hallow spell. The affected area is subject to the following effects.

First, celestials, elementals, fey, fiends, and undead can't enter the area, nor can such creatures charm, frighten, or possess creatures within it. Any creature charmed, frightened, or possessed by such a creature is no longer charmed, frightened, or possessed upon entering the area. You can exclude one or more of those types of creatures from this effect.

Second, you can bind an extra effect to the area. Choose the effect from the following list, or choose an effect offered by the DM. Some of these effects apply to creatures in the area.

Courage. Affected creatures can't be frightened while in the area.

Darkness. Darkness fills the area. Normal light, as well as magical light created by spells of a lower level than the slot you used to cast this spell, can't illuminate the area.

Daylight. Bright light fills the area. Magical darkness created by spells of a lower level than the slot you used to cast this spell can't extinguish the light.

Energy Protection. Affected creatures in the area have resistance to one damage type of your choice, except for bludgeoning, piercing, or slashing.

Energy Vulnerability. Affected creatures in the area have vulnerability to one damage type of your choice, except for bludgeoning, piercing, or slashing.

Everlasting Rest. Dead bodies interred in the area can't be turned into undead.

Extradimensional Interference. Affected creatures can't move or travel using teleportation or by extradimensional or interplanar means.

Fear. Affected creatures are frightened while in the area.

Silence. No sound can emanate from within the area, and no sound can reach into it.

Tongues. Affected creatures can communicate with any other creature in the area, even if they don't share a common language.

Summon Celestial

5th-level conjuration

CASTING TIME	1 action
RANGE	90 feet
DURATION	Concentration, up to 1 hour
COMPONENTS	V, S, M (a golden reliquary worth at least 500 gp)

You call forth a celestial spirit. It manifests in an angelic form in an unoccupied space that you can see within range. This corporeal form uses the Celestial Spirit stat block. When you cast the spell, choose Avenger or Defender.

Your choice determines the creature's attack in its stat block. The creature disappears when it drops to 0 hit points or when the spell ends.

The creature is an ally to you and your companions. In combat, the creature shares your initiative count, but it takes its turn immediately after yours. It obeys your verbal commands (no action required by you). If you don't issue any, it takes the Dodge action and uses its move to avoid danger.

At Higher Levels. When you cast this spell using a spell slot of 6th level or higher, use the higher level whenever the spell's level appears in the stat block.

Prepared (Cleric)

Tasha's Cauldron of Everything

Planar Ally

6th-level conjuration

CASTING TIME	10 minutes
RANGE	60 feet
DURATION	Instantaneous
COMPONENTS	V, S

You beseech an otherworldly entity for aid. The being must be known to you: a god, a primordial, a demon prince, or some other being of cosmic power. That entity sends a celestial, an elemental, or a fiend loyal to it to aid you, making the creature appear in an unoccupied space within range. If you know a specific creature's name, you can speak that name when you cast this spell to request that creature, though you might get a different creature anyway (DM's choice).

When the creature appears, it is under no compulsion to behave in any particular way. You can ask the creature to perform a service in exchange for payment, but it isn't obliged to do so. The requested task could range from simple (fly us across the chasm, or help us fight a battle) to complex (spy on our enemies, or protect us during our foray into the dungeon). You must be able to communicate with the creature to bargain for its services.

Payment can take a variety of forms. A celestial might require a sizable donation of gold or magic items to an allied temple, while a fiend might demand a living sacrifice or a gift of treasure. Some creatures might exchange their service for a quest undertaken by you.

As a rule of thumb, a task that can be measured in minutes requires a payment worth 100 gp per minute. A task measured in hours requires 1,000 gp per hour. And a task measured in days (up to 10 days) requires 10,000 gp per day. The GM can adjust these payments based on the circumstances under which you cast the spell. If the task is aligned with the creature's ethos, the payment might be halved or even waived. Nonhazardous tasks typically require only half the suggested payment, while especially dangerous tasks might require a greater gift. Creatures rarely accept tasks that seem suicidal.

After the creature completes the task, or when the agreed-upon duration of service expires, the creature returns to its home plane after reporting back to you, if appropriate to the task and if possible. If you are unable to agree on a price for the creature's service, the creature immediately returns to its home plane.

A creature enlisted to join your group counts as a member of it, receiving a full share of experience points awarded.

Legends whisper of the last High Priest of Vidar, whose flesh was carved in the shape of the god's own True Name at the moment Vidar fell silent. The rite did not restore the god, but it anchored the priest's soul in the twilight between life and death — neither wholly living, nor truly gone. To bear this carving is to let the final breath of Vidar bind your body, defy decay, and channel the black flame of unmaking.

To wear the Mark is to hear the echo of a god's last breath. Vidar's silence lingers in the carving's cold touch—a reminder that even deities may fade, but their will lingers like a knife between the ribs. The black flame it wields is not yours to command; you are merely the hand that holds it, the voice that whispers its name. And when the fire flickers, you'll wonder: does it answer your prayers... or is it the other way around?

Eldritch Carving Effects (Drawn). While attuned to this carving in any form, you gain advantage on death saving throws and also you gain advantage against undead creatures.

Eldritch Carving Effects (Tattooed). Vidar's sigil shields your form at the brink of death. While you are below half your hit point maximum, you gain resistance to necrotic damage and your weapon attacks deal an additional 1d6 radiant or necrotic damage (your choice each attack). Additionally, whenever you restore hit points to a creature that is at 0 HP, they also gain temporary hit points equal to your Wisdom modifier + your Cleric level.

Eldritch Carving Effects (Scarified). When inscribed via the scarification ritual, the Mark of the Silent Rebirth awakens Vidar's blessing and curse fully and enables you to use Death's Rebirth feature.

Death's Rebirth. When you are reduced to 0 hit points but not killed outright, the carving flares with black fire. You immediately regain hit points equal to half your maximum HP and gain temporary hit points equal to your Wisdom score. For 1 minute:

- You are under the effect of Death Ward spell.
- You gain resistance to all damage except force damage.
- Your melee weapon attacks deal an additional 2d6 necrotic or radiant damage (your choice when you activate this feature).
- When the minute ends, you drop to 0 hit points and start making death saving throws as normal with advantage. You cannot benefit from this feature again until you finish a long rest.

Those who wait to be freed do not deserve freedom.

This dark metallic ring has small veins of lava pulsing in a broken rhythm, forged from the ancient echo of destruction that still beats within ancestors heart.

This weapon bears the final echo of a tyrant's restraint — wield it wisely, lest the land break under your hand.

This massive hammer crackles with residual heat and pressure. Forged from obsidian and rune-bound steel, its head glows faintly with dormant volcanic rune sigils.

When you attuned to this weapon, you considered as proficient on Mauls. Additionally your Strength score is 19 while you wear these gauntlets. They have no effect on you if your Strength is already 19 or higher without them.

You gain a +2 bonus to attack and damage rolls made with this magic weapon. This bonus does not consist on magical attacks. Also you can use this weapon as an arcane focus.

Sigil Warrior: Whenever you hit a creature with this weapon, you can choose to erupt a rune. This maul has 5 rune sigils. When you erupt a rune, choose a target. The target must succeed on a DC 14 Constitution saving throw or take an additional 1d6 fire damage and be pushed 5 feet away from you.

Valkørr's Fury: Once per long rest, as an action, you can slam the hammer into the ground, causing a volcanic tremor. All creatures within 40 ft long 20 ft wide line must make a DC 15 Dexterity saving throw or take 3d6 fire and 3d6 bludgeoning damage.

Wisps of harmless, odorless smoke rise from this armor while it is worn.

You gain a +1 bonus to AC and saving throws while wearing this ring.

A shield is made from wood or metal and is carried in one hand. Wielding a shield increases your Armor Class by 2. You can benefit from only one shield at a time.

A holy symbol is a representation of a god or pantheon. It might be an amulet depicting a symbol representing a deity, the same symbol carefully engraved or inlaid as an emblem on a shield, or a tiny box holding a fragment of a sacred relic. Appendix PH-B "Fantasy-Historical Pantheons" lists the symbols commonly associated with many gods in the multiverse. A cleric or paladin can use a holy symbol as a spellcasting focus. To use the symbol in this way, the caster must hold it in hand, wear it visibly, or bear it on a shield.

Crossbow bolts are used with a crossbow to make a ranged attack.

A backpack is a leather pack carried on the back, typically with straps to secure it. A backpack can hold 1 cubic foot/30 pounds of gear.

This small container holds flint, fire steel, and tinder (usually dry cloth soaked in light oil) used to kindle a fire. Using it to light a torch—or anything else with abundant, exposed fuel—takes an action. Lighting any other fire takes 1 minute.

A torch burns for 1 hour, providing bright light in a 20-foot radius and dim light for an additional 20 feet. If you make a melee attack with a burning torch and hit, it deals 1 fire damage.

Rations consist of dry foods suitable for extended travel, including jerky, dried fruit, hardtack, and nuts.

Rope, whether made of hemp or silk, has 2 hit points and can be burst with a DC 17 Strength check.

Plant

Wizards are well-known for their blinkered approach to classification, relying almost solely on magical properties rather than evolutionary history. Containing both photosynthetic and fungal organisms, the category of 'plant' is a taxonomical misnomer. However, the magical properties of components derived from fungal species have a surprising similarity to those of treants and awakened shrubs, which is the likely cause of this etymological error.

Regarding edible components: sap is blood, tuber is flesh, roots and hyphae are bones, wax is fat, poison glands are livers, pollen and spores are spice, bark and membranes are hearts.

Edible and used in crafting

Woven from the fibrous, yearning nerves of the Marrow-Rot Gardens, the Myceliaweave Circlet is no mere prize of war, but the true, undying essence of the Flesh-Shed Queen herself, seeking not a master, but a new vessel to inhabit. It is a silent architect of rot that once claimed a nameless mortal and sculpted her, through centuries of agonizing molts and grotesque transformations, into the entity the world feared as Mortarossa. To place it upon one's brow is to invite the white, searching threads of the mycelium to bridge the gap between wood and bone, stitching their cold, thrumming consciousness into the wearer's very thoughts until the distinction between the self and the soil's hunger begins to dissolve. In its presence, the deadly nectar of the abyss becomes a restorative wine, fortifying the blood with a vigor that defies mortal frailty, yet this vitality is but a hollow lure—a creeping corruption that slowly replaces the wearer's humanity with the silent, vegetative chorus of the deep. With a mere command, the circlet calls forth the dormant spores within the fallen, weaving rot into a blooming sentinel of moss and vine that mirrors the wearer's own inevitable decay. This crown is a jealous god; it does not merely sit upon the head but consumes it, digging its roots into the spirit to ensure that the new vessel shall walk the same path of shedding and sorrow, until they too are nothing more than a hollowed, fungal throne for the Queen's eternal reign.

This fungus-covered wooden circlet is riddled with a tangled web of mycelia. While wearing it, you are always under the effects of the Speak With Plants spell. This version of the spell only allows you to understand and speak to fungi, instead of all plants. In addition, your Constitution score increases by 2, to a maximum of 22, and you are both immune to poison damage and condition. Whenever you would take poison damage, you can instead spend one Hit Die to magically regain hit points (no action required). When you do, roll the Hit Die, add your Constitution modifier, and regain a number of hit points equal to the total.

The circlet can also be used to cause new fungal growth to spring forth under your command. While wearing it, you can cause a patch of mushrooms and other fungi to grow from a 5-foot square of soil that you touch over the course of 1 minute. Alternatively, you can use this property to grow this fungus on a Large or smaller corpse. When you do, you can choose to reanimate that creature. This creature uses the statistics for a shambling mound, regardless of its previous form or abilities, with the exception that it has immunity to poison damage and regains hit points when subjected to poison damage, instead of lightning damage. It remains for 8 hours or until it's reduced to 0 hit points, at which point it collapses and can't be used as a target for this property again.

The reanimated creature is considered a fungus for the purposes of being able to communicate with it and is friendly to you and your companions. It obeys any verbal commands that you issue to it (no action required by you). If you don't issue any commands to the creature, it defends itself from hostile creatures but otherwise takes no actions. In combat, it shares your initiative count, but takes its turn immediately after yours. Once the circlet has been used to reanimate a creature in this way, it can't do so again until the next dawn.

Long ago, during the Cataclysm of the Prismatic Veil, it was whispered that the sky itself cracked like a fallen mirror, spilling the raw, unrefined hues of the cosmos into the world below. While many such splinters vanished into the annals of myth, the Flesh-Shed Queen, Mortossa, was the one who plucked this jagged fragment from the smoldering crater where it fell, dragging it into the suffocating gloom of her Marrow-Rot Gardens. For eons, she hoarded the Shard as her most prized arcane theft, attempting to stifle its celestial brilliance with her own creeping corruption. Yet, the stone remained a cold and hungry void that drinks the very light it inhabits. To gaze into its depths now is to witness a trapped, defiant tempest; a violent, swirling vortex where the sapphire thunder of the High Peaks and the sun-gold fires of Aeterna clash eternally against the emerald stains of the Queen's touch. To grasp the Shard is to reclaim a fragment of a storm that forgot how to end—a stolen relic that vibrates with a frantic, chaotic rhythm, waiting to unleash its spectrum of destruction upon the world it was once forbidden to see.

This jagged, multifaceted crystal shard is unnaturally cold to the touch and seems to absorb the surrounding light. Its interior is a swirling vortex of intense, flickering shades of yellow, blue, and green, and their myriad derivatives. The colors shift and blur rapidly, hinting at uncontrollable energies trapped within.

Arcane Resonance. You can use this shard as an arcane focus. While holding it, you gain a +2 bonus to spell attack rolls and to the saving throw DCs of your spells.

Chaotic Surge (1/Short Rest). When you successfully hit a creature with a spell attack, or when a creature fails a saving throw against one of your spells, you can use a bonus action to expend the shard's charge. When you expend a charge, you roll a d4 in order to determine certain damage type. You gain advantage on your next spell attack roll or impose disadvantage on the next saving throw against one of your spells, determined by a d4 roll:

- Yellow (Radiant/Fire).
 - Advantage or Disadvantage applies to a spell that deals Radiant or Fire damage.
- Blue (Cold/Lightning).
 - Advantage or Disadvantage applies to a spell that deals Cold or Lightning damage.
- Green (Poison/Necrotic).
 - Advantage or Disadvantage applies to a spell that deals Poison or Necrotic damage.
- White (Any Spell).
 - Advantage or Disadvantage applies to a spell that deals any type of damage.

Through the dark arts of a high-born vampire, your life was tethered back to the material plane. In place of your natural heartbeat, a jagged, obsidian-like mark pulses with a predatory rhythm. This brand is not just a scar; it is a conduit for the ancient blood magic of the forbidden Vampiric Dark Arts.

Vampiric Conduit: You learn one spell of your choice from the Vampire Blood Magic spell list. You can cast this spell once at its 4th-level version without expending a spell slot or requiring material components. You regain the ability to cast the spell in this way when you finish a short or long rest. Your spellcasting ability for this spell is varies by chosen spell.

You cannot be hidden from the Creator by any magical or non-magical means. Additionally, as a bonus action, the Creator can speak through your mark, allowing their voice to whisper directly into your mind.

This bag has an interior space considerably larger than its outside dimensions, roughly 2 feet in diameter at the mouth and 4 feet deep. The bag can hold up to 500 pounds, not exceeding a volume of 64 cubic feet. The bag weighs 15 pounds, regardless of its contents. Retrieving an item from the bag requires an action.

If the bag is overloaded, pierced, or torn, it ruptures and is destroyed, and its contents are scattered in the Astral Plane. If the bag is turned inside out, its contents spill forth, unharmed, but the bag must be put right before it can be used again. Breathing creatures inside the bag can survive up to a number of minutes equal to 10 divided by the number of creatures (minimum 1 minute), after which time they begin to suffocate.

Placing a bag of holding inside an extradimensional space created by a handy haversack, portable hole, or similar item instantly destroys both items and opens a gate to the Astral Plane. The gate originates where the one item was placed inside the other. Any creature within 10 feet of the gate is sucked through it to a random location on the Astral Plane. The gate then closes. The gate is one-way only and can't be reopened.

Many creatures in the worlds of D&D, especially those that dwell underground, have darkvision. Within a specified range, a creature with darkvision can see in darkness as if the darkness were dim light, so areas of darkness are only lightly obscured as far as that creature is concerned. However, the creature can't discern color in darkness, only shades of gray.

You have advantage on saving throws against poison, and you have resistance against poison damage.

Whenever you make an Intelligence (History) check related to the origin of stonework, you are considered proficient in the History skill and add double your proficiency bonus to the check, instead of your normal proficiency bonus.

As a conduit for divine power, you can cast cleric spells.

CANTRIPS
At 1st level, you know three cantrips of your choice from the cleric spell list. You learn additional cleric cantrips of your choice at higher levels, as shown in the Cantrips Known column of the Cleric table.

PREPARING AND CASTING SPELLS
The Cleric table shows how many spell slots you have to cast your cleric spells of 1st level and higher. To cast one of these spells, you must expend a slot of the spell's level or higher. You regain all expended spell slots when you finish a long rest.
You prepare the list of cleric spells that are available for you to cast, choosing from the cleric spell list. When you do so, choose a number of cleric spells equal to your Wisdom modifier + your cleric level (minimum of one spell). The spells must be of a level for which you have spell slots.
For example, if you are a 3rd-level cleric, you have four 1st-level and two 2nd-level spell slots. With a Wisdom of 16, your list of prepared spells can include six spells of 1st or 2nd level, in any combination. If you prepare the 1st-level spell cure wounds, you can cast it using a 1st-level or 2nd-level slot. Casting the spell doesn't remove it from your list of prepared spells.
You can change your list of prepared spells when you finish a long rest. Preparing a new list of cleric spells requires time spent in prayer and meditation: at least 1 minute per spell level for each spell on your list.

SPELLCASTING ABILITY
Wisdom is your spellcasting ability for your cleric spells. The power of your spells comes from your devotion to your deity. You use your Wisdom whenever a cleric spell refers to your spellcasting ability. In addition, you use your Wisdom modifier when setting the saving throw DC for a cleric spell you cast and when making an attack roll with one.
Spell save DC = 8 + your proficiency bonus + your Wisdom modifier
Spell attack modifier = your proficiency bonus + your Wisdom modifier

RITUAL CASTING
You can cast a cleric spell as a ritual if that spell has the ritual tag and you have the spell prepared.

SPELLCASTING FOCUS
You can use a holy symbol as a spellcasting focus for your cleric spells.

At 2nd level, you gain the ability to channel divine energy directly from your deity, using that energy to fuel magical effects. You start with two such effects: Turn Undead and an effect determined by your domain. Some domains grant you additional effects as you advance in levels, as noted in the domain description.
When you use your Channel Divinity, you choose which effect to create. You must then finish a short or long rest to use your Channel Divinity again.
Some Channel Divinity effects require saving throws. When you use such an effect from this class, the DC equals your cleric spell save DC.
Beginning at 6th level, you can use your Channel Divinity twice between rests, and beginning at 18th level, you can use it three times between rests. When you finish a short or long rest, you regain your expended uses.

As an action, you present your holy symbol and speak a prayer censuring the undead. Each undead that can see or hear you within 30 feet of you must make a Wisdom saving throw. If the creature fails its saving throw, it is turned for 1 minute or until it takes any damage.
A turned creature must spend its turns trying to move as far away from you as it can, and it can't willingly move to a space within 30 feet of you. It also can't take reactions. For its action, it can use only the Dash action or try to escape from an effect that prevents it from moving. If there's nowhere to move, the creature can use the Dodge action.

Starting at 5th level, when an undead fails its saving throw against your Turn Undead feature, the creature is instantly destroyed if its challenge rating is at or below a certain threshold, as shown in the Destroy Undead table.

Beginning at 10th level, you can call on your deity to intervene on your behalf when your need is great.

Imploring your deity's aid requires you to use your action. Describe the assistance you seek, and roll percentile dice. If you roll a number equal to or lower than your cleric level, your deity intervenes. The DM chooses the nature of the intervention; the effect of any cleric spell or cleric domain spell would be appropriate.

If your deity intervenes, you can't use this feature again for 7 days. Otherwise, you can use it again after you finish a long rest.

At 20th level, your call for intervention succeeds automatically, no roll required.

At 1st level, you gain the ability to imbue magic into a weapon or armor. At the end of a long rest, you can touch one nonmagical object that is a suit of armor or a simple or martial weapon. Until the end of your next long rest or until you die, the object becomes a magic item, granting a +1 bonus to AC if it's armor or a +1 bonus to attack and damage rolls if it's a weapon.

Once you use this feature, you can't use it again until you finish a long rest.

Starting at 2nd level, you can use your Channel Divinity to create simple items.

You conduct an hour-long ritual that crafts a nonmagical item that must include some metal: a simple or martial weapon, a suit of armor, ten pieces of ammunition, a set of tools, or another metal object (see chapter 5, "Equipment," in the Player's Handbook for examples of these items). The creation is completed at the end of the hour, coalescing in an unoccupied space of your choice on a surface within 5 feet of you.

The thing you create can be something that is worth no more than 100 gp. As part of this ritual, you must lay out metal, which can include coins, with a value equal to the creation. The metal irretrievably coalesces and transforms into the creation at the ritual's end, magically forming even nonmetal parts of the creation.

The ritual can create a duplicate of a nonmagical item that contains metal, such as a key, if you possess the original during the ritual.

At 8th level, you gain the ability to infuse your weapon strikes with the fiery power of the forge. Once on each of your turns when you hit a creature with a weapon attack, you can cause the attack to deal an extra 1d8 fire damage to the target. When you reach 14th level, the extra damage increases to 2d8.
