You might want to tweak some of the features of a background so it better fits your character or the campaign setting. To customize a background, you can replace one feature with any other one, choose any two skills, and choose a total of two tool proficiencies or languages from the sample backgrounds. You can either use the equipment package from your background or spend coin on gear as described in chapter 5. (If you spend coin, you can't also take the equipment package suggested for your class.) Finally, choose two personality traits, one ideal, one bond, and one flaw. If you can't find a feature that matches your desired background, work with your DM to create one.

BACKGROUND STORY

Shelter of the Faithful

As an acolyte, you command the respect of those who share your faith, and you can perform the religious ceremonies of your deity. You and your adventuring companions can expect to receive free healing and care at a temple, shrine, or other established presence of your faith, though you must provide any material components needed for spells. Those who share your religion will support you (but only you) at a modest lifestyle.You might also have ties to a specific temple dedicated to your chosen deity or pantheon, and you have a residence there. This could be the temple where you used to serve, if you remain on good terms with it, or a temple where you have found a new home. While near your temple, you can call upon the priests for assistance, provided the assistance you ask for is not hazardous and you remain in good standing with your temple.

ADDITIONAL TREASURE

Mark of the Silent Rebirth (Scarified). Legends whisper of the last High Priest of Vidar, whose flesh was carved in the shape of the god's own True Name at the moment Vidar fell silent. The rite did not restore the god, but it anchored the priest's soul in the twilight between life and death — neither wholly living, nor truly gone. To bear this carving is to let the final breath of Vidar bind your body, defy decay, and channel the black flame of unmaking.
To wear the Mark is to hear the echo of a god's last breath. Vidar's silence lingers in the carving's cold touch—a reminder that even deities may fade, but their will lingers like a knife between the ribs. The black flame it wields is not yours to command; you are merely the hand that holds it, the voice that whispers its name. And when the fire flickers, you'll wonder: does it answer your prayers… or is it the other way around?
Eldritch Carving Effects (Drawn). While attuned to this carving in any form, you gain advantage on death saving throws and also you gain advantage against undead creatures.
Eldritch Carving Effects (Tattooed). Vidar's sigil shields your form at the brink of death. While you are below half your hit point maximum, you gain resistance to necrotic damage and your weapon attacks deal an additional 1d6 radiant or necrotic damage (your choice each attack). Additionally, whenever you restore hit points to a creature that is at 0 HP, they also gain temporary hit points equal to your Wisdom modifier + your Cleric level.
Eldritch Carving Effects (Scarified). When inscribed via the scarification ritual, the Mark of the Silent Rebirth awakens Vidar's blessing and curse fully and enables you to use Death's Rebirth feature.
Death's Rebirth. When you are reduced to 0 hit points but not killed outright, the carving flares with black fire. You immediately regain hit points equal to half your maximum HP and gain temporary hit points equal to your Wisdom score. For 1 minute:
- You are under the effect of Death Ward spell.
- You gain resistance to all damage except force damage.
- Your melee weapon attacks deal an additional 2d6 necrotic or radiant damage (your choice when you activate this feature).
- When the minute ends, you drop to 0 hit points and start making death saving throws as normal with advantage. You cannot benefit from this feature again until you finish a long rest.

Sundering Cinder Ring.
Those who wait to be freed do not deserve freedom.
This dark metallic ring has small veins of lava pulsing in a broken rhythm, forged from the ancient echo of destruction that still beats within ancestors heart.
While attuned to this item, you can use its Unbounded Flames feature once per long rest.
Unbounded Flames: When you activete this feature, the unbounded eternal core flames coming from the Hearth-Forge starts to cleanse you and envelops your whole body. For 1 minute, you cleansed from all negative effects that effects you and you become immune to all negative effects. This effects could includes; curses, diseases, corruptions, madness etc. Also in this state, you become immune to fire damage and gain +1 to all of you physical attacks, magical attacks and Save DC's.
Your negative effects does not vanishes and after 1 minute, you turn back to your previous state.

Plate +1. You have a bonus to AC while wearing this armor. The bonus is determined by its rarity.

Valkørr's Oath.
This weapon bears the final echo of a tyrant's restraint — wield it wisely, lest the land break under your hand.
This massive hammer crackles with residual heat and pressure. Forged from obsidian and rune-bound steel, its head glows faintly with dormant volcanic rune sigils.
When you attuned to this weapon, you considered as proficient on Mauls. Additionally your Strength score is 19 while you wear these gauntlets. They have no effect on you if your Strength is already 19 or higher without them.
You gain a +2 bonus to attack and damage rolls made with this magic weapon. This bonus does not consist on magical attacks. Also you can use this weapon as an arcane focus.
Sigil Warrior: Whenever you hit a creature with this weapon, you can choose to erupt a rune. This maul has 5 rune sigils. When you erupt a rune, choose a target. The target must succeed on a DC 14 Constitution saving throw or take an additional 1d6 fire damage and be pushed 5 feet away from you.
Valkørr's Fury: Once per long rest, as an action, you can slam the hammer into the ground, causing a volcanic tremor. All creatures within 40 ft long 20 ft wide line must make a DC 15 Dexterity saving throw or take 3d6 fire and 3d6 bludgeoning damage.

Helm of the Fanatic Martyr.
Before the searing corruption of the Scourge turned him into a wandering pyre of madness, Gideon Harrow was the 'Unblinking Sentinel'—the first and last line of defense for the Jaeger Corps. This helm was not merely forged for protection, but as a sensory crucible; its iron was tempered in the same righteous fires that Gideon used to cauterize the world's hidden rot. The visor does not just filter light; it focuses the wearer's soul into a singular, lethal point of tactical clarity, stripping away the illusions of the aberrant to reveal the festering truth beneath. Even after his death, the metal remains unnervingly warm, vibrating with the ghost-echoes of a zealot's conviction. To don the Helm of the Fanatic Martyr is to see the world as the Jaeger did—not as a land of beauty, but as a dying patient in need of a final, fiery surgery. It grants the wearer the cold, mechanical precision of a master hunter and the iron-willed resolve to face the madness of the Eldritch Moon, demanding that one must first become a witness to the darkness before they can ever hope to burn it away.
The Martyr's Unblinking Gaze (2/Long Rest). As an action, you can force the helm's visor to flare with a blinding, holy radiance. For 1 minute, you gain Truesight out to a range of 60 feet. As you can command followes, the flames emerges from the helm to shed Bright Light in a 20-foot radius and Dim Light for an additional 20 feet. You can extinguish this light as a bonus action. You can use this feature twice per long rest.
Jaeger's Tactical Precision (Proficiency Bonus/Long Rest). The helm's internal mechanisms analyze the movements of your prey with cold, mechanical efficiency. You gain a +2 bonus to initiative rolls. Additionally, as a bonus action, you can study a creature you can see within 60 feet of you. Make an Intelligence (Investigation) check with advantage to discern the target's vital weaknesses. If you already have advantage on Intelligence (Investigation) checks from another source, you instead gain a +5 bonus to this check. The DC for this check is calculated as DC = 10 + the creature's Proficiency Bonus. If the creature's nature or species is unknown to you, the DC increases by 5. On a successful check, you immediately learn if the creature has any damage vulnerabilities, resistances or immunities. You can use this feature a number of times equal to your Proficiency Bonus per Long Rest.
Fanatic's Resolve. While wearing this helm, you have Advantage on saving throws against being Frightened. Additionally, the iron will of the Jaegers remains etched into the metal, shielding your mind from the supernatural terror of the Hunt. You also have Advantage on saving throws against Madness saving throws.

Spectacles of the Sacred Pyre.
It is said that during the Siege of the Ashen Spire, Discount spent three days staring directly into a blazing holy pyre, seeking a sign from his deity 'Radiant One'. When he finally turned away, his mortal eyes were forever scarred by divine light, leaving him unable to perceive the mundane world without the aid of sanctified glass. The blacksmiths of the Order set tempered obsidian and molten ember-glass into a filigreed dark-iron frame, binding the glasses with sacred rites for him.
Crafted from filigreed dark metal and set with glowing, fiery obsidian-glass lenses, these spectacles were forged for inquisitors who blend sorcerous embers with holy fervor. The burning veins within the glass pulse in rhythm with the wearer's devotion.
Eyes of the Devout Judgement. You gain advantage on Wisdom (Insight) checks made to determine if a creature is lying, as the burning lenses visibly flare whenever dishonesty is uttered in your presence.
Audit the Weak. You can cast the Borrowed Knowledge spell without expending a spell slot. This spell doesn't count against the number of spells you have prepared. Once you cast the spell in this way, you can't do so again until you finish a long rest. Additionally, once per long rest, when a Fiend, Undead, or Aberration succeeds on a saving throw against a spell you cast that deals fire or radiant damage, you can choose to maximize the spell's damage instead of rolling. The target still takes half damage as a result of a successful save, but that half damage is calculated using the maximum possible result of the spell's damage dice.

Searing Smite

1st-level evocation

CASTING TIME	1 bonus action
RANGE	Self
DURATION	Concentration, up to 1 minute

If the target or a creature within 5 feet of it uses an action to put out the flames, or if some other effect douses the flames (such as the target being submerged in water), the spell ends.

Until the spell ends, you can use a bonus action on each of your subsequent turns to cause this damage again.

If a creature is holding or wearing the object and takes the damage from it, the creature must succeed on a Constitution saving throw or drop the object if it can. If it doesn't drop the object, it has disadvantage on attack rolls and ability checks until the start of your next turn.

Prepared (Cleric) Player's Handbook (2024)

Spirit Guardians

3rd-level conjuration

CASTING TIME	Action
RANGE	Self (15-foot Emanation)
DURATION	Concentration, up to 10 minutes
COMPONENTS	V, S, M (a prayer scroll)

Protective spirits flit around you in a 15-foot Emanation for the duration. If you are good or neutral, their spectral form appears angelic or fey (your choice). If you are evil, they appear fiendish.

When you cast this spell, you can designate creatures to be unaffected by it. Any other creature's Speed is halved in the Emanation, and whenever the Emanation enters a creature's space and whenever a creature enters the Emanation or ends its turn there, the creature must make a Wisdom saving throw. On a failed save, the creature takes 3d8 Radiant damage (if you are good or neutral) or 3d8 Necrotic damage (if you are evil). On a successful save, the creature takes half as much damage. A creature makes this save only once per turn.

Using a Higher-Level Spell Slot. The damage increases by 1d8 for each spell slot level above 3.

Prepared (Cleric) Player's Handbook (2024)

Banishment

COMPONENTS	V, S, M (a pentacle)

One creature that you can see within range must succeed on a Charisma saving throw or be transported to a harmless demiplane for the duration. While there, the target has the Incapacitated condition. When the spell ends, the target reappears in the space it left or in the nearest unoccupied space if that space is occupied.

If the target is an Aberration, a Celestial, an Elemental, a Fey, or a Fiend, the target doesn't return if the spell lasts for 1 minute. The target is instead transported to a random location on a plane (DM's choice) associated with its creature type.

Using a Higher-Level Spell Slot. You can target one additional creature for each spell slot level above 4.

Prepared (Cleric) Player's Handbook (2024)

Death Ward

4th-level abjuration

CASTING TIME	Action
RANGE	Touch
DURATION	8 hours
COMPONENTS	V, S

You touch a creature and grant it a measure of protection from death. The first time the target would drop to 0 Hit Points before the spell ends, the target instead drops to 1 Hit Point, and the spell ends.

If the spell is still in effect when the target is subjected to an effect that would kill it instantly without dealing damage, that effect is negated against the target, and the spell ends.

Prepared (Cleric) Player's Handbook (2024)

Fabricate

4th-level transmutation

CASTING TIME	10 minutes
RANGE	120 feet
DURATION	Instantaneous
COMPONENTS	V, S

You convert raw materials into products of the same material. For example, you can fabricate a wooden bridge from a clump of trees, a rope from a patch of hemp, and clothes from flax or wool.

Choose raw materials that you can see within range. You can fabricate a Large or smaller object (contained within a 10-foot cube, or eight connected 5-foot cubes), given a sufficient quantity of raw material. If you are working with metal, stone, or another mineral substance, however, the fabricated object can be no larger than Medium (contained within a single 5-foot cube). The quality of objects made by the spell is commensurate with the quality of the raw materials.

Creatures or magic items can't be created or transmuted by this spell. You also can't use it to create items that ordinarily require a high degree of craftsmanship, such as jewelry, weapons, glass, or armor, unless you have proficiency with the type of artisan's tools used to craft such objects.

Domain Spells (Cleric) Player's Handbook

Guardian of Faith

4th-level conjuration

CASTING TIME	Action
RANGE	30 feet
DURATION	8 hours
COMPONENTS	V

A Large spectral guardian appears and hovers for the duration in an unoccupied space that you can see within range. The guardian occupies that space and is invulnerable, and it appears in a form appropriate for your deity or pantheon.

Any enemy that moves to a space within 10 feet of the guardian for the first time on a turn or starts its turn there makes a Dexterity saving throw, taking 20 Radiant damage on a failed save or half as much damage on a successful one. The guardian vanishes when it has dealt a total of 60 damage.

Prepared (Cleric) Player's Handbook (2024)

Wall of Fire

4th-level evocation

CASTING TIME	1 action
RANGE	120 feet
DURATION	Concentration, up to 1 minute
COMPONENTS	V, S, M (a small piece of phosphorus)

You create a wall of fire on a solid surface within range. You can make the wall up to 60 feet long, 20 feet high, and 1 foot think, or a ringed wall up to 20 feet in diameter, 20 feet high, and 1 foot think. The wall is opaque and lasts for the duration.

When the wall appears, each creature within its area must make a Dexterity saving throw. On a failed save, a creature takes 5d8 fire damage, or half as much damage on a successful save.

One side of the wall, selected by you when you cast this spell, deals 5d8 fire damage to each creature that ends its turn within 10 feet of that side or inside the wall. A creature takes the same damage when it enters the wall for the first time on a turn or ends its turn there. The other side of the wall deals no damage.

At Higher Levels. When you cast this spell using a spell slot of 5th level or higher, the damage increases by 1d8 for each slot level above 4th.

Domain Spells (Cleric) Player's Handbook

Animate Objects

5th-level transmutation

CASTING TIME	1 action
RANGE	120 feet
DURATION	Concentration, up to 1 minute
COMPONENTS	V, S

Objects come to life at your command. Choose up to ten nonmagical objects within range that are not being worn or carried. Medium targets count as two objects, Large targets count as four objects, Huge targets count as eight objects. You can't animate any object larger than Huge. Each target animates and becomes a creature under your control until the spell ends or until reduced to 0 hit points.

As a bonus action, you can mentally command any creature you made with this spell if the creature is within 500 feet of you (if you control multiple creatures, you can command any or all of them at the same time, issuing the same command to each one). You decide what action the creature will take and where it will move during its next turn, or you can issue a general command, such as to guard a particular chamber or corridor. If you issue no commands, the creature only defends itself against hostile creatures. Once given an order, the creature continues to follow it until its task is complete.

ANIMATED OBJECT STATISTICS

Size	HP	AC	Attack	Str	Dex
Tiny	20	18	+8 to hit, 1d4 + 4 damage	4	18
Small	25	16	+6 to hit, 1d8 + 2 damage	6	14
Medium	40	13	+5 to hit, 2d6 + 1 damage	10	12
Large	50	10	+6 to hit, 2d10 + 2 damage	14	10
Huge	80	10	+8 to hit, 2d12 + 4 damage	18	6

An animated object is a construct with AC, hit points, attacks, Strength, and Dexterity determine by its size. Its Constitution is 10 and its Intelligence and Wisdom are 3, and its Charisma is 1. Its speed is 30 feet; if the objects lack legs or other appendages it can use for locomotion, it instead has a flying speed of 30 feet and can hover. If the object is securely attached to a surface or larger object, such as a chain bolted to a wall, its speed is 0. It has blindsight with a radius of 30 feet and is blind beyond that distance. When the animated object drops to 0 hit points, it reverts to its original object form, and any remaining damage carries over to its original object form.

If you command an object to attack, it can make a single melee attack against a creature within 5 feet of it. It makes a slam attack with an attack bonus and bludgeoning damage determine by its size. The DM might rule that a specific object inflicts slashing or piercing damage based on its form.

At Higher Levels. If you cast this spell using a spell slot of 6th or higher, you can animate two additional objects for each slot level above 5th.

Domain Spells (Cleric) — Player's Handbook

Creation

5th-level illusion

CASTING TIME	1 minute
RANGE	30 feet
DURATION	Special
COMPONENTS	V, S, M (a tiny piece of matter of the same type of the item you plan to create)

You pull wisps of shadow material from the Shadowfell to create a nonliving object of vegetable matter within range: soft goods, rope, wood, or something similar. You can also use this spell to create mineral objects such as stone, crystal, or metal. The object created must be no larger than a 5-foot cube, and the object must be of a form and material that you have seen before.

The duration depends on the object's material. If the object is composed of multiple materials, use the shortest duration.

Material	Duration
Vegetable matter	1 day
Stone or crystal	12 hours
Precious metals	1 hour
Gems	10 minutes
Adamantine or mithral	1 minute

Using any material created by this spell as another spell's material component causes that spell to fail.

At Higher Levels. When you cast this spell using a spell slot of 6th level or higher, the cube increases by 5 feet for each slot level above 5th.

Domain Spells (Cleric) — Player's Handbook

Planar Binding

5th-level abjuration

CASTING TIME	1 hour
RANGE	60 feet
DURATION	24 hours
COMPONENTS	V, S, M (a jewel worth 1,000+ GP, which the spell consumes)

You attempt to bind a Celestial, an Elemental, a Fey, or a Fiend to your service. The creature must be within range for the entire casting of the spell. (Typically, the creature is first summoned into the center of the inverted version of the Magic Circle spell to trap it while this spell is cast.) At the completion of the casting, the target must succeed on a Charisma saving throw or be bound to serve you for the duration. If the creature was summoned or created by another spell, that spell's duration is extended to match the duration of this spell.

A bound creature must follow your commands to the best of its ability. You might command the creature to accompany you on an adventure, to guard a location, or to deliver a message. If the creature is Hostile, it strives to twist your commands to achieve its own objectives. If the creature carries out your commands completely before the spell ends, it travels to you to report this fact if you are on the same plane of existence. If you are on a different plane, it returns to the place where you bound it and remains there until the spell ends.

Using a Higher-Level Spell Slot. The duration increases with a spell slot of level 6 (10 days), 7 (30 days), 8 (180 days), and 9 (366 days).

Summon Celestial

5th-level conjuration

CASTING TIME	Action
RANGE	90 feet

COMPONENTS	V, S, M (a reliquary worth 500+ GP)

You call forth a Celestial spirit. It manifests in an angelic form in an unoccupied space that you can see within range and uses the Celestial Spirit stat block. When you cast the spell, choose Avenger or Defender. Your choice determines certain details in its stat block. The creature disappears when it drops to 0 Hit Points or when the spell ends.

The creature is an ally to you and your allies. In combat, the creature shares your Initiative count, but it takes its turn immediately after yours. It obeys your verbal commands (no action required by you). If you don't issue any, it takes the Dodge action and uses its movement to avoid danger.

Using a Higher-Level Spell Slot. Use the spell slot's level for the spell's level in the stat block.

Mark of the Silent Rebirth (Scarified)

Wondrous Items

Legends whisper of the last High Priest of Vidar, whose flesh was carved in the shape of the god's own True Name at the moment Vidar fell silent. The rite did not restore the god, but it anchored the priest's soul in the twilight between life and death — neither wholly living, nor truly gone. To bear this carving is to let the final breath of Vidar bind your body, defy decay, and channel the black flame of unmaking.

To wear the Mark is to hear the echo of a god's last breath. Vidar's silence lingers in the carving's cold touch—a reminder that even deities may fade, but their will lingers like a knife between the ribs. The black flame it wields is not yours to command; you are merely the hand that holds it, the voice that whispers its name. And when the fire flickers, you'll wonder: does it answer your prayers… or is it the other way around?

Eldritch Carving Effects (Drawn). While attuned to this carving in any form, you gain advantage on death saving throws and also you gain advantage against undead creatures.

Eldritch Carving Effects (Tattooed). Vidar's sigil shields your form at the brink of death. While you are below half your hit point maximum, you gain resistance to necrotic damage and your weapon attacks deal an additional 1d6 radiant or necrotic damage (your choice each attack). Additionally, whenever you restore hit points to a creature that is at 0 HP, they also gain temporary hit points equal to your Wisdom modifier + your Cleric level.

Eldritch Carving Effects (Scarified). When inscribed via the scarification ritual, the Mark of the Silent Rebirth awakens Vidar's blessing and curse fully and enables you to use Death's Rebirth feature.

Death's Rebirth. When you are reduced to 0 hit points but not killed outright, the carving flares with black fire. You immediately regain hit points equal to half your maximum HP and gain temporary hit points equal to your Wisdom score. For 1 minute:

- You are under the effect of Death Ward spell.
- You gain resistance to all damage except force damage.
- Your melee weapon attacks deal an additional 2d6 necrotic or radiant damage (your choice when you activate this feature).
- When the minute ends, you drop to 0 hit points and start making death saving throws as normal with advantage. You cannot benefit from this feature again until you finish a long rest.

Helm of the Fanatic Martyr

Wondrous Items

Before the searing corruption of the Scourge turned him into a wandering pyre of madness, Gideon Harrow was the 'Unblinking Sentinel'—the first and last line of defense for the Jaeger Corps. This helm was not merely forged for protection, but as a sensory crucible; its iron was tempered in the same righteous fires that Gideon used to cauterize the world's hidden rot. The visor does not just filter light; it focuses the wearer's soul into a singular, lethal point of tactical clarity, stripping away the illusions of the aberrant to reveal the festering truth beneath. Even after his death, the metal remains unnervingly warm, vibrating with the ghost-echoes of a zealot's conviction. To don the Helm of the Fanatic Martyr is to see the world as the Jaeger did—not as a land of beauty, but as a dying patient in need of a final, fiery surgery. It grants the wearer the cold, mechanical precision of a master hunter and the iron-willed resolve to face the madness of the Eldritch Moon, demanding that one must first become a witness to the darkness before they can ever hope to burn it away.

The Martyr's Unblinking Gaze (2/Long Rest). As an action, you can force the helm's visor to flare with a blinding, holy radiance. For 1 minute, you gain Truesight out to a range of 60 feet. As you can command followes, the flames emerges from the helm to shed Bright Light in a 20-foot radius and Dim Light for an additional 20 feet. You can extinguish this light as a bonus action. You can use this feature twice per long rest.

Jaeger's Tactical Precision (Proficiency Bonus/Long Rest). The helm's internal mechanisms analyze the movements of your prey with cold, mechanical efficiency. You gain a +2 bonus to initiative rolls. Additionally, as a bonus action, you can study a creature you can see within 60 feet of you. Make an Intelligence (Investigation) check with advantage to discern the target's vital weaknesses. If you already have advantage on Intelligence (Investigation) checks from another source, you instead gain a +5 bonus to this check. The DC for this check is calculated as DC = 10 + the creature's Proficiency Bonus. If the creature's nature or species is unknown to you, the DC increases by 5. On a successful check, you immediately learn if the creature has any damage vulnerabilities, resistances or immunities. You can use this feature a number of times equal to your Proficiency Bonus per Long Rest.

Fanatic's Resolve. While wearing this helm, you have Advantage on saving throws against being Frightened. Additionally, the iron will of the Jaegers remains etched into the metal, shielding your mind from the supernatural terror of the Hunt. You also have Advantage on saving throws against Madness saving throws.

Spectacles of the Sacred Pyre

Wondrous Items

It is said that during the Siege of the Ashen Spire, Discount spent three days staring directly into a blazing holy pyre, seeking a sign from his deity 'Radiant One'. When he finally turned away, his mortal eyes were forever scarred by divine light, leaving him unable to perceive the mundane world without the aid of sanctified glass. The blacksmiths of the Order set tempered obsidian and molten ember-glass into a filigreed dark-iron frame, binding the glasses with sacred rites for him.

Crafted from filigreed dark metal and set with glowing, fiery obsidian-glass lenses, these spectacles were forged for inquisitors who blend sorcerous embers with holy fervor. The burning veins within the glass pulse in rhythm with the wearer's devotion.

Eyes of the Devout Judgement. You gain advantage on Wisdom (Insight) checks made to determine if a creature is lying, as the burning lenses visibly flare whenever dishonesty is uttered in your presence.

Audit the Weak. You can cast the Borrowed Knowledge spell without expending a spell slot. This spell doesn't count against the number of spells you have prepared. Once you cast the spell in this way, you can't do so again until you finish a long rest. Additionally, once per long rest, when a Fiend, Undead, or Aberration succeeds on a saving throw against a spell you cast that deals fire or radiant damage, you can choose to maximize the spell's damage instead of rolling. The target still takes half damage as a result of a successful save, but that half damage is calculated using the maximum possible result of the spell's damage dice.

Plant

Wizards are well-known for their blinkered approach to classification, relying almost solely on magical properties rather than evolutionary history. Containing both photosynthetic and fungal organisms, the category of 'plant' is a taxonomical misnomer. However, the magical properties of components derived from fungal species have a surprising similarity to those of treants and awakened shrubs, which is the likely cause of this etymological error.

Regarding edible components: sap is blood, tuber is flesh, roots and hyphae are bones, wax is fat, poison glands are livers, pollen and spores are spice, bark and membranes are hearts.

Myceliaweave Circlet

Wondrous Items

Woven from the fibrous, yearning nerves of the Marrow-Rot Gardens, the Myceliaweave Circlet is no mere prize of war, but the true, undying essence of the Flesh-Shed Queen herself, seeking not a master, but a new vessel to inhabit. It is a silent architect of rot that once claimed a nameless mortal and sculpted her, through centuries of agonizing molts and grotesque transformations, into the entity the world feared as Mortarossa. To place it upon one's brow is to invite the white, searching threads of the mycelium to bridge the gap between wood and bone, stitching their cold, thrumming consciousness into the wearer's very thoughts until the distinction between the self and the soil's hunger begins to dissolve. In its presence, the deadly nectar of the abyss becomes a restorative wine, fortifying the blood with a vigor that defies mortal frailty, yet this vitality is but a hollow lure—a creeping corruption that slowly replaces the wearer's humanity with the silent, vegetative chorus of the deep. With a mere command, the circlet calls forth the dormant spores within the fallen, weaving rot into a blooming sentinel of moss and vine that mirrors the wearer's own inevitable decay. This crown is a jealous god; it does not merely sit upon the head but consumes it, digging its roots into the spirit to ensure that the new vessel shall walk the same path of shedding and sorrow, until they too are nothing more than a hollowed, fungal throne for the Queen's eternal reign.

This fungus-covered wooden circlet is riddled with a tangled web of mycelia. While wearing it, you are always under the effects of the Speak With Plants spell. This version of the spell only allows you to understand and speak to fungi, instead of all plants. In addition, your Constitution score increases by 2, to a maximum of 22, and you are both immune to poison damage and condition. Whenever you would take poison damage, you can instead spend one Hit Die to magically regain hit points (no action required). When you do, roll the Hit Die, add your Constitution modifier, and regain a number of hit points equal to the total.

The circlet can also be used to cause new fungal growth to spring forth under your command. While wearing it, you can cause a patch of mushrooms and other fungi to grow from a 5-foot square of soil that you touch over the course of 1 minute. Alternatively, you can use this property to grow this fungus on a Large or smaller corpse. When you do, you can choose to reanimate that creature. This creature uses the statistics for a shambling mound, regardless of its previous form or abilities, with the exception that it has immunity to poison damage and regains hit points when subjected to poison damage, instead of lightning damage. It remains for 8 hours or until it's reduced to 0 hit points, at which point it collapses and can't be used as a target for this property again.

The reanimated creature is considered a fungus for the purposes of being able to communicate with it and is friendly to you and your companions. It obeys any verbal commands that you issue to it (no action required by you). If you don't issue any commands to the creature, it defends itself from hostile creatures but otherwise takes no actions. In combat, it shares your initiative count, but takes its turn immediately after yours. Once the circlet has been used to reanimate a creature in this way, it can't do so again until the next dawn.

Shard of Shifting Chroma

Wondrous Items

Long ago, during the Cataclysm of the Prismatic Veil, it was whispered that the sky itself cracked like a fallen mirror, spilling the raw, unrefined hues of the cosmos into the world below. While many such splinters vanished into the annals of myth, the Flesh-Shed Queen, Mortarossa, was the one who plucked this jagged fragment from the smoldering crater where it fell, dragging it into the suffocating gloom of her Marrow-Rot Gardens. For eons, she hoarded the Shard as her most prized arcane theft, attempting to stifle its celestial brilliance with her own creeping corruption. Yet, the stone remained a cold and hungry void that drinks the very light it inhabits. To gaze into its depths now is to witness a trapped, defiant tempest; a violent, swirling vortex where the sapphire thunder of the High Peaks and the sun-gold fires of Aeterna clash eternally against the emerald stains of the Queen's touch. To grasp the Shard is to reclaim a fragment of a storm that forgot how to end—a stolen relic that vibrates with a frantic, chaotic rhythm, waiting to unleash its spectrum of destruction upon the world it was once forbidden to see.

This jagged, multifaceted crystal shard is unnaturally cold to the touch and seems to absorb the surrounding light. Its interior is a swirling vortex of intense, flickering shades of yellow, blue, and green, and their myriad derivatives. The colors shift and blur rapidly, hinting at uncontrollable energies trapped within.

Arcane Resonance. You can use this shard as an arcane focus. While holding it, you gain a +2 bonus to spell attack rolls and to the saving throw DCs of your spells.

Chaotic Surge (1/Short Rest). When you successfully hit a creature with a spell attack, or when a creature fails a saving throw against one of your spells, you can use a bonus action to expend the shard's charge. When you expand a charge, you roll a d4 in order to determine certain damage type. You gain advantage on your next spell attack roll or impose disadvantage on the next saving throw against one of your spells, determined by a d4 roll:

- Yellow (Radiant/Fire).
- Advantage or Disadvantage applies to a spell that deals Radiant or Fire damage.
- Blue (Cold/Lightning).

- Green (Poison/Necrotic).
- Advantage or Disadvantage applies to a spell that deals Poison or Necrotic damage.

At 1st level, you know three cantrips of your choice from the cleric spell list. You learn additional cleric cantrips of your choice at higher levels, as shown in the Cantrips Known column of the Cleric table.

PREPARING AND CASTING SPELLS

The Cleric table shows how many spell slots you have to cast your cleric spells of 1st level and higher. To cast one of these spells, you must expend a slot of the spell's level or higher. You regain all expended spell slots when you finish a long rest.

You prepare the list of cleric spells that are available for you to cast, choosing from the cleric spell list. When you do so, choose a number of cleric spells equal to your Wisdom modifier + your cleric level (minimum of one spell). The spells must be of a level for which you have spell slots.

For example, if you are a 3rd-level cleric, you have four 1st-level and two 2nd-level spell slots. With a Wisdom of 16, your list of prepared spells can include six spells of 1st or 2nd level, in any combination. If you prepare the 1st-level spell cure wounds, you can cast it using a 1st-level or 2nd-level slot. Casting the spell doesn't remove it from your list of prepared spells.

You can change your list of prepared spells when you finish a long rest. Preparing a new list of cleric spells requires time spent in prayer and meditation: at least 1 minute per spell level for each spell on your list.

SPELLCASTING ABILITY

Wisdom is your spellcasting ability for your cleric spells. The power of your spells comes from your devotion to your deity. You use your Wisdom whenever a cleric spell refers to your spellcasting ability. In addition, you use your Wisdom modifier when setting the saving throw DC for a cleric spell you cast and when making an attack roll with one.

Spell save DC = 8 + your proficiency bonus + your Wisdom modifier

Spell attack modifier = your proficiency bonus + your Wisdom modifier

RITUAL CASTING

You can cast a cleric spell as a ritual if that spell has the ritual tag and you have the spell prepared.

SPELLCASTING FOCUS

You can use a holy symbol as a spellcasting focus for your cleric spells.

Cleric — Player's Handbook

Channel Divinity

Class Feature

At 2nd level, you gain the ability to channel divine energy directly from your deity, using that energy to fuel magical effects. You start with two such effects: Turn Undead and an effect determined by your domain. Some domains grant you additional effects as you advance in levels, as noted in the domain description.

When you use your Channel Divinity, you choose which effect to create. You must then finish a short or long rest to use your Channel Divinity again.

Some Channel Divinity effects require saving throws. When you use such an effect from this class, the DC equals your cleric spell save DC.

Beginning at 6th level, you can use your Channel Divinity twice between rests, and beginning at 18th level, you can use it three times between rests. When you finish a short or long rest, you regain your expended uses.

Channel Divinity: Turn Undead

Class Feature

As an action, you present your holy symbol and speak a prayer censuring the undead. Each undead that can see or hear you within 30 feet of you must make a Wisdom saving throw. If the creature fails its saving throw, it is turned for 1 minute or until it takes any damage.

A turned creature must spend its turns trying to move as far away from you as it can, and it can't willingly move to a space within 30 feet of you. It also can't take reactions. For its action, it can use only the Dash action or try to escape from an effect that prevents it from moving. If there's nowhere to move, the creature can use the Dodge action.

Destroy Undead

Class Feature

Starting at 5th level, when an undead fails its saving throw against your Turn Undead feature, the creature is instantly destroyed if its challenge rating is at or below a certain threshold, as shown in the Destroy Undead table.

Divine Intervention

Class Feature

Beginning at 10th level, you can call on your deity to intervene on your behalf when your need is great.

Imploring your deity's aid requires you to use your action. Describe the assistance you seek, and roll percentile dice. If you roll a number equal to or lower than your cleric level, your deity intervenes. The DM chooses the nature of the intervention; the effect of any cleric spell or cleric domain spell would be appropriate.

If your deity intervenes, you can't use this feature again for 7 days. Otherwise, you can use it again after you finish a long rest.

At 20th level, your call for intervention succeeds automatically, no roll required.

Blessing of the Forge

Archetype Feature

At 1st level, you gain the ability to imbue magic into a weapon or armor. At the end of a long rest, you can touch one nonmagical object that is a suit of armor or a simple or martial weapon. Until the end of your next long rest or until you die, the object becomes a magic item, granting a +1 bonus to AC if it's armor or a +1 bonus to attack and damage rolls if it's a weapon.

Once you use this feature, you can't use it again until you finish a long rest.

Channel Divinity: Artisan's Blessing

Archetype Feature

Starting at 2nd level, you can use your Channel Divinity to create simple items.

You conduct an hour-long ritual that crafts a nonmagical item that must include some metal: a simple or martial weapon, a suit of armor, ten pieces of ammunition, a set of tools, or another metal object (see chapter 5, "Equipment," in the Player's Handbook for examples of these items). The creation is completed at the end of the hour, coalescing in an unoccupied space of your choice on a surface within 5 feet of you.

The thing you create can be something that is worth no more than 100 gp. As part of this ritual, you must lay out metal, which can include coins, with a value equal to the creation. The metal irretrievably coalesces and transforms into the creation at the ritual's end, magically forming even nonmetal parts of the creation.

The ritual can create a duplicate of a nonmagical item that contains metal, such as a key, if you possess the original during the ritual.

Divine Strike

Archetype Feature

At 8th level, you gain the ability to infuse your weapon strikes with the fiery power of the forge. Once on each of your turns when you hit a creature with a weapon attack, you can cause the attack to deal an extra 1d8 fire damage to the target. When you reach 14th level, the extra damage increases to 2d8.
